FOR BETTER ROADS.

The question of a trunk line road thru northern Michigan has been under advisement and discussion for more than a year but until recently nothing effective toward bringing it about had been done.

In April a special trunk line road committee was appointed and John J. Niederer elected chairman. Mr. Niederer immediately set about to work in behalf of those who prefered that such a trunk line be extended from Bay City to Mackinaw thru the counties along the Michigan Central railroad, touching the county seat cities

A petition to the Highway Commis sioner of Michigan was drawn up and thru systematic work it was signed up by the most representative citizens in the several counties to be effected. The petition is as follows:

ODDFELLOWS HOLD SPLENDID MEETING.

Grand Lodge Officers Present;

Hold School of Instruction. Grand Master Thomas S. Scupholm of Port Huron and Grand Secretary Fred A. Rogers of Reading, of the Grand lodge, I.O.O.F., held a school of instruction at the Oddfellows temple last Monday evening. There were about 70 Oddfellows present, among these several from out of the city from Frederic, Roscommon, Johannesburg, Lewiston and Waters. The Lady Rebeccas were also invited and in all made up a fine gathering. The local degree staff from Grayling lodge put on the work of the third degree, and were extended much praise by the Grand lodge officers, who said the work couldn't be better. - After the school, all were invited to the dining room where a trout supper had been prepared by the Rebecca ladies, in honor of the visit from the Grand officers. The trout were all caught by many of the local members and everybody had as much as they could eat, and then some. Ambrose McClain did the frying, and nothing more need be said about the excellence of the fish.

After the banquet both grand officers gave splendid talks on the work of the lodge, which was very much enjoyed by all.

It was a splendid meeting and was one of the finest gatherings the lodge had had.

Best There is in Flying Game For State Fair.

Ruth Law, the aviatrix, who won international fame thru her flight from Chicago to New York, a distance of 980 miles last fall and who has just returned from the French front, will be one of the big attractions at the Michthe announcement of G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the exposition. Louis Gertson, a westener who is known from coast to coast fo his daring exploits in the air, will also fly during the Fair, featuring night flights in an illuminated plane. In closing contracts with these two flyers Mr. Dickinson feels confident that he has secured the foremost aviators in the country, insuring patrons of the State Fair, which opens on August 31st, the best there is in thrilling performances in the air. Miss Law, who is but 19 years old has offered her services in the U.S. aviation corps and is in charge of the Woman's aviation division. She has been flying in the east during the winter and is familiar with military regulations governing aviators and their movements while in the air.

Gertson is known as the "Human Night Hawk" and prefers rather to work in the air at night than in daylight. His plane is beautifully illuminated by electric bulbs supplied by current renerated on the aeroplane itself. When he goes thru his darelevil loops and dives, he describes a trail of light, like a dropping star, against the black sky. The effect is as they have never seen before. We will have day and night flights every day of the Fair, and I will promise you that those who see these two people in the air will feel that there is nothing more that can be done with

WRECKS AUTO

DRIVER INSTANTLY KILLED, COMPANION SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Accident Occurred Monday Night Near T-Town Crossing.

A Michigan Central logging train smashed into an auto occupied by D. M. Gilleo, a well known plano tuner of heboygan, and Miss Phoebe Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter 5. Johnson of this city, wherein the ormer was almost instantly killed and Miss Johnson seriously injured The accident occurred at about 9:00 clock Monday night at the T-Town rossing.

Miss Johnson was taken to Mercy ospital within a few minutes after the accident and for the next 24 hour it was doubtful that she might recover. The young lady had been severely in jured internally, and hemmorhage from one ear indicated that the base of the skull had been fractured Slight improvement was noted Wednesday morning and since that time she has been getting along nicely with strong chances for recovery.

The body of the dead man was re moved to Sorenson Bros" undertaking parlors. His wife arrived Tuesday noon and took the body to Carson City that night for burial.

It appears that the train that struck the auto was made up of several flat cars which were being pushed ahead of the engine, and the general supposition is that the driver of the car in watching the headlight of the en ine had not noticed the flat cars ahead of it, and the car was struck squarely in the middle, smashing in the right side and tipping it over on the left side. The driver must have struck the track head first. The rim of the steering wheel was broken off and the small brass hub (Ford car) was driven into the shoulder of the man, tearing away part of his left breast and nearly severing his left rm. His skull was crushed at the left temple and several other head bruises were noticed. Also his neck was broken, and several places on his body were bruised and torn. Death must have been almost instantaneous from the loss of blood as well as his other injuries. Gilleo was about 40 years of age He had a wife and two daughters. He had been making regular visits to Grayling and other towns for several years past, tuning pianos. He was stopping at Knights boarding house where Miss Johnson was employed At the night of the accident Gilleo was about to go to T-Town to look after some work that he was doing there and Miss Johnson accompanied him for the ride.

A coroner's inquest was ordered to determine the responsibility for the accident. After preliminary examina tion of the affair, the case was ad journed to Thursday afternoon, June 28, at 1:00 o'clock p. m.

The president's address in part is as

My Fellow Citizens: We meet to colebrate Fing Day because this fing which we honor and under which we serve is the emblem of our unity, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. The choices are ours It floats in majestic sitence above the that execute those choices whether in peace or in war. And yet though silent, it speaks to us-speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us and of the records they wrote upon it. We celebrate the day of its birth; and from its birth until now it has witnessed a great his tory, has floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people. We are about to carry it into battle, to lift it where it will draw the fire of our enemies. We are about to bid thousands, hundreds of thousands, it may be mil-Hons of our men, the young, the strong, the capable men of the nation, to go forth and die beneath it on fields of blood far away-for what? For some unaccustomed thing? For something for which it has never sought the fire before? American armies were never before sent across the seas. Why are they sent now? For some new purpose, for which this great fing has never been carried before, or for some old, familiar, heroic purpose for which It ery battlefield upon which Americans have borne arms since the Revolution? These are questions which must be answered. We are Americans. We in our turn serve America, and can serve her with no private purpose. We must use her flag as she has always used it. We are accountable at the bar of history and must plead in utter frankness what purpose it is we seek to serve.

United States Forced Into War.

It is plain enough how we were forced into the war. The extraordinary insults and aggressions of the imperial German government left us no self-respecting choice but to take up arms in defense of our rights as a free people and of our honor as a sovereign government. The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our unsuspecting communities with victous spies and conspirators and sought to corrupt the opinion of our people in their own behalf. When they found that they could not do that, their agents diligently spread sedition amongst us and sought to draw our own citizens from their allegiance, and some of those agents were men connected with the official embassy of the German government itself here in our own capital. They sought by violence to destroy our inand arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into a hostile alliance with her-and that, not by indirection, but by direct suggestion from the foreign office in Berlin. They impudently denied us the use of the high sens and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe. And many of our own people were corrupted. Men began to look upon their own neighbors suspicion and to wonder in their hot resentment and surprise whether was any community in which hostile intrigue did not lurk What great nation in such circumstances would not have taken up arms? Much as we had desired peace, it was denied us, and not of our own choice. This flag under which we serve would have been dishonored had we withheld our

We know now as clearly as we knew before we were ourselves engaged tha we are not enemies of the German people and that they are not our enough They did not originate or desire this hideous war or wish that we should be drawn into it; and we are vaguely conscious that we are fighting their cause as they will some day see it, as well as our own. They are themselves in the grip of the same sinister power that has now at last stretched its ugly talons out and drawn blood from us. The whole world is in the grlp of that power and is trying out the great battle which shall determine whether it is to he brought under its mastery or fling

The present particular aim of the masters of Germany is to deceive all those who throughout the world stand for the rights of peoples and the selfgovernment of nations; for they see what immense strength the forces of justice and of liberalism are gathering out of this war. The sinister intrigue is being no less actively conducted in this country than in Russia and in every country in Europe to which the agents and dupes of the imperial German government can get access. United States in War for Freedom The great fact that stands out above all the rest is that this is a People's war, a war for freedom and justice and self-government amongst all the naworld safe for the peoples who live in it and have made it their own, the German people themselves included: and that with us rests the choice to break through all these hypocristes and patent cheats and masks of brute force and help set the world free, or else stand aside and let it be dominated a long age through by sheer weight of arms and the arbitrary choices of selfconstituted musters, by the nation which can maintain the biggest armies and the most irresistible armamentsa power to which the world has afrded no parallel and in the face of which political freedom must wither

Liberty Loan of Two Billions Over Subscribed by People of United States-Hope for Russia Revives-President Wilson's Great Flag Day Address.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Another ruler was pushed off his throne last week, and another nation probably added to those in active con with the central powers. time it is Constantine I, king of the Hellenes, who has lost his crown. After diplomatic intriguing and open quarrels that had been going on ever since the war started, he was forced by the allies to abdicate, and his eldest son, the crown prince, was barred from the succession because of his proproclivities. Constantine, however, was allowed to preserve his dynasty, at least for the present, by nominating his second son. Alexander as his successor.

The abdication of the king was brought about by Senator Jonnart of France, who went to Greece empowered by the allies to settle finally the position of that country in the war. He informed Premier Zaimis that roops were at his disposal to carry out his decisions, but appealed to the premier to use his influence toward a peaceful arrangement. After consult ng the crown council, the king decided to quit, and his abdication was announced on Tuesday morning. Both Constantine and the former crown prince have left Greece already.

May Mean Much to Allies. If Greece now decides to participate ctively in the war, she can throw into the field an army of 500,000 men, well: rained but not sufficiently equipped Venizeles, the former premier and consistent opponent of Constantine's war policy, has back of him 100,000 men, and though the army in general was loyal to the ex-king, it is predicted the entire fighting force of the nation now take up arms against the Tentonic powers and Turkey. This might bring about a decided change in the Balkan situation. With the Greeks acting with the allies from the south and the reorganized Roumanian army. and possibly the Russians striking from the north, the line of communications between Germany and Turkey night well be cut and the Turks forced to sue for nence.

Alexander, the new king of Greece who is twenty-four years old, took the onth on Wednesday. It is reasonable to suppose he will act in accord with the allies, for he has kept free from allpro-German activities and seems to be ecceptable to M. Jonnart. In fact, he cannot do much otherwise, for the entente forces promptly seized control of all of Greece. Professedly, their nim is the restoration of the constitutional government of that country. It was stated semiofficially in Washington that the United States had not taken any part in the deposing of Constantine and had not been consulted by the entente powers. This emphasizes the fact that we are allies of those powers in war, but not necessarily in diploly by the individual men, women and children of the nation, not by the great financial institutions. This not only is most desirable from an economic point of view, but is conclusive evidence that the entire nation is backing the government in the conflict against despotism. It was only necessary that the people should be awakened to the real situation, and this was done with energy and efficiency by the press and by innumerable speakers throughout the land.

Renewed Hope for Russia.

Hope and despair concerning Russia alternately take possession of the al lies. Just now it is the turn of hope and there is a real prospect that the new republic not only can be prevented from making separate peace with the Teutons, but may even be restored as a potent military factor. Minister of War Kerensky is succeeding to some extent in re-establishing discipline in the army, and an incident on the Roumanian front, when three mutinous regiments were forced to uncondition al surrender by a large number of loyal troops showed that most of the soldier are disposed to back up the provision al government. The All-Russian coun cil of peasants, furthermore, passed by a vote of 1.000 to 4 a resolution to cut off food supplies from Kronstadt if the town did not immediately loin its rev olutionary forces to those of Russian democracy, and demanding that the government at once force the absolute submission of Kronstadt.

President Wilson's note to Russia defining America's war aims, was recelved with much satisfaction every where except by the radical Russian socialists and in Germany, and was promptly followed by one from Great Britain which virtually stated that Mr. Wilson had spoken for his entente allies. Of course the interpretation of the phrase "peace without annexa-tions" is still a stumbling block, for Great Britain, France and Italy take the position that the restoration of "stolen" lands, such as Alsace-Lor raine, Italia Irredenta and other reglons, must not be considered as annex ations. The Root commission, which had a triumphant trip across Siberia is counted on to do a great deal toward bringing Russia to the scratch again, and at this writing it really looks as though she will not yield to the blandishments of the kalser and his social ist and pacifist emissaries. The great change in Greece also is looked upon as likely to influence Russia because of the effect it is sure to have on the Balkan situation.

The very weakness of the Russian provisional government has caused the German conservatists to abandon hope of persuading Russia to a separate peace, for as Herr Heydebrand, their leader, says, such a course would be futile unless the government were strong enough to combat the allies Russla would be forsaking.

Mr. Root and his colleagues and also the American railway engineering commission reached Petrograd on Wednes day. On the same day the Russian mission to the United States landed at a Pacific coast port and started for ashington. It is headed by Boris A. Bakhmetieff as special ambassador.

General Pershing in France. General Pershing and his staff, after several days of work and entertainment in London, crossed over into France and were enthusiastically received in both Boulogne and Paris. The whereabouts of his expeditionary force called by the German press an American army bluff—had not been an nounced at the time of writing.

There were two significant develop ments on the battle fronts of Europe. The Italians, resting for the present from their advance on Trieste, made vigorous attack on the Austrians in the Trentino, gaining some importan posts and again threatening Trent. On the Belgian front near the seaco there was great activity by the artillery, seeming to indicate the intention of the allies to try for a push in that region toward Ostend and Zeebrugge The British made secure their gains of last week and advanced farther east and northeast of Messines, while French repulsed all attacks farther to the south. The allies seem to have adopted a new plan in France, making each drive a battle complete in itself: they have demonstrated, they feel, that the German military power can be crushed, and the speed with which this is to be done depends largely on the fact is that it has been taken up main- aid given by the United States.

On Thursday it was announced that the Germans had abandoned important sections of their front, between Lys

Wilson's Flag-Day Address.

Flag Day, June 14, was marked by enthusiasm and solemnity which it was celebrated throughout the country, and also by a notable address by President Wilson in Washington, Mr. Wilson again set forth clearly the reason why we have entered the forced thereto by the insults and aggressions of the German government; he drew a vivid picture of the German intrigues in the Balkans, Turkey, Per sia, Iudia and Egypt and described the great German plan to throw a belt of military power and political control across the center of Europe and into the heart of Asia; he told how far this scheme had been carried toward success, and where it had been folled, and then scathingly denounced the deceitful efforts to secure peace that the German government has been making for a year because it knows its plan has falled and is trying to preserve its political power at home and, indeed, its very existence.

The president fairly took the hide off the friends and partisans of the German government in this country, They will make no headway, he de clared, for they and their thinly-disguised disloyalties are known, and the truth is plainly seen by our people. "Woe be to the man or group of men that seeks to stand in our way in this day of high resolution," cried the chief magistrate, "when every principle we hold dearest is to be vindicated and made secure for the salvation of the nations.

during the whole of the present war received enormous profits by exportations, particularly of foodstuffs, to Germany, to the detriment and loss of the entente allies. The charges have been published in some newspapers in London and in Paris, and later in the United States. These absolute ly false accusations against Denmark re flatly contradicted in the house of commons by the British blockude minister, Lord Cecil, who in summing up his statements said: "It has been suggested that Denmark has been guilty of great delinquencies as re gards ourselves. I know that that has been very much resented in Denmark. I wish to say speaking for the British government, that I make no such charge against Denmark at all. I remember the Danish agreement and the campaign then set on foot, and I can only say that that agreement has been carried out with admirable fidelity by the Danish parties to it. I be-lieve that it has proved exceedingly useful and that it has been well ob served by the whole Danish population with very few exceptions. I de sire to say, with the utmost emphasis, that in my judgment the Danes, when ever they have given us any assurance, have endeavored honestly and honorably to fulfill them. For these reasons, so far as Denmark is concerned. I am authorized by his majesty's government to say, after full consideration of all the aspects, that they do not see any reason to modify their present blockade policy with re-spect to that country." Mr. Brun corrects fulse export statistics and adds "I am making this authentic statement trusting that, in justice to a small country, which under the greatest difficulties has faithfully and at important sacrifices to itself carried out its duties of neutrality towards all the belligerents, it will preven further misjudgment in the press and contribute to the accurate knowledge of the facts at a time when, in view of the entry of the United States in the war and of the various measures under consideration for regulation and control of exports here, a mistaken conception of the subject here discussed might cause serious and unjust harm to Denmark and to its fuure relations with the United States.

NORWAY.

It is a curious fact that attempts were made about the same time in the congress of the United States and in the storthing of Norway to muzzle the press in the interest of the war. It is no less interesting that so far the result has been the same. A member of the cabinet, Minister of Justice Urbye, asked for a very drastic law The bill was deagainst the press. The bill was de-feated by a vote of 46 to 39. A much milder bill was also rejected, the vote this time being 62 to 22. Mr. Urbye had to leave the cabinet in a hurry. The next day the Aftenposten contained the following comment: "In all parts of the assembly it was realized that the limit had been reached. A minister of justice who wants to abolish the liberty of the press in our country in the year 1917 is an antediluvian phenomenon. He does not be long to the throbbing life of our day. He must now be transferred to private life. He ought to be thankful that he is not placed in the historical museum among other entombed relics. The iden of Russia getting liberty of the press in March and Norway losing it in April! The press is too strong for Mr. Urbye. For in this case the press is the same thing as the people Norway, which will not permit itself to be muzzled by any Mr. Urbye. The press is the Norwegian opinion, which is not satisfied with the secret traffic earried on by the government. Urbye supposed that the press was the same thing as a dozen faces around the tables of the reporters. This was his great folly. Therefore his fate was bound to be a sad one."

It is proposed to put up a first class nodern hospital at Bodo at a cost of at least $400,000. The reader should bear in mind that this place is near the polar circle.

The storthing has resolved to in crease the tax on war profits to 30 per cent. The socialist members clared that unless something effective was done to check the high cost of living there would be a revolution. The government was authorized to take up a loan of $21,500,000 at home or abroad.

According to news received by the Norwegian legation ir Condon 49 Norwegian steamships with a gross tonnage of 35,397 were sunk in May; 25 lives were lost.

Soldiers at Lardal were ordered to chop wood for the city last spring. The farmers of the community were very much displeased because sons were forced to leave the necessarv spring work in order to furnish fuel for the city people.

A dispatch from Christiania quotes the Norwegian foreign minister to the effect that German submarines have sunk the sailing vessel Asters (1.531 tons gross), and the steamships Glyn (probably the Glyg, 358 tons) and Fridtjof Nansen (2.197 tone).

The provisional government of Russin on the proposal of the Finnish senate, has decreed repressive measures against excessive use of alcohol. Persons getting drunk or drinking to excess in public places are flable months imprisonment. Intoxicated persons committing robberles, acts of violence or other offenses will be liable to penal servitude for six to eight years.

SWEDEN. A Swedish shipper, whose operations are extensive, said that for days the Swedish government allowed no ships to clear from Gothenburg for England or America. The ship insurance institutions were forbidden to issue any policies. The purpose of this measure was twofold. The first object was to obtain from England a more liberal export of supplies to Sweden, and the second was to influence America to permit the loading of the Swedish ships now lying empty in the American harbors. Such reprisals all along have been Sweden's most efficacious measures for the protection of its interests. The government also has made the issue of permits for the transfer through Sweden of goods destined to Russia, the basis for delivery of English and American goods to Sweden. When that bargain seemed to be hanging fire, Sweden simply said: "Very well, this is our country and we will do what we please with it and without reciprocal ar rangements we certainly will not make it a runway for goods consigned to Russia. Let us have some of your stuff or we will not pass your Russian consignments." Consequently, there were periods when the docks freight depots on the eastern border of Sweden were piled high with goods awaiting the concessions from England which would win their release. On one occasion, when a coffee famine was threatened, the government held up 100,000 bags of coffee which was consigned by foreign shippers to Russia and made the permission for the releasing of the coffee conditional up-on being allowed to buy for Sweden 40,000 of the 100,000 bags. This bargain was made. On another occasion the government made permission to an American firm to send 200,000 tons of leather into Russia conditional upon that firm's bringing into Sweden from Finland and selling to 400,000 tons of oil cake. The leather was held up for five months, until this was done although it, had been shipped from America in care of the British government agents. The leather was worth $500,000. Something deeper than the consciousness of having the upper hand in the traffic arrange ments sustains Sweden in these methods. This is nothing less than the people's faith in their nation's military strength and their confidence in their ability to play the trump card in the game of international politics. Such views are only hinted, but they none the less fill the national mind. You get the whole story when you hear broad backed, square chinned and keen eyed Stockholm business man say: "Sweden neither wishes nor expects to get into the war, but we will let the powers who think they can restrict imports to us to a point where it is endangering the nourishment of our people consider what would happen if Sweden put 700,000 men on the German front in Russia, thus permitting the Germans to make bigger concentrations in France."

Hialmar Branting, the leader of the swedish Social Democrats, is hailed by the French press as the man who has more than any other contributed to the defeat up to the present time of all the German plans for a separate peace with Russia. Humanite says in an editorial "that the clear-sighted leader of the Swedish socialists, who is a friend of the allies because of their just cause, has saved the Russian revolutionaries from the abyss of a separate peace with Germany." In L'Evenement Alexandre Varennes, socialist member of the French chamber of deputies, emphasizes "that the democracy of Branting is fighting against the common foe for liberty and peace," Le Gaullos, the influential organ of the French conservatists, says that the Russian working men's delegates were on the brink of being caught in the trap of a separate peace with Germany when Branting intervened and warded off the impending danger."

The Karolinska Association of Stockholm has engaged Prof. J. Kolmodin to make a trip to Constantinople next fall for the purpose of studying the archives of the city with regard to the life and activity of King Karl XII during his stay in Turkey. A rich man whose name is not published has offered to pay the expenses of the work to be performed by Professor Kolmodin.

The value of real estate in Stockholm increased at the rate of $25 nor inhabitant from 1915 to 1916. At the same time the taxable income increased about 75 per cent.

In view of numerous complaints bout the food served in the army of Sweden, General Morcke of the first army division stated in an interview that according to his knowledge mos of the complaints were unwarranted. While making tours of inspection dup ing his service as a member of the cabinet he never found any good cause for criticism. He would even risk the assertion that no army in the whole world is better fed than that of Sweien. If there were any real grievances they were surely limited to a very few regiments.

Need for Saving Breeders and Feeders Is Great.

CROPS REDUCE FERTILITY

Cash Crops Craze May Injure Land If Plantfood Is Not Replaced-Live Stock Will Keep Up Richness of Soil.

By GEORGE A. BROWN,

Professor of Beef Husbandry, M. A. C. East Lansing, Mich.—In many sec-tions of the state the extremely high prices prevailing this spring for grain plants are six or eight inches high. and provender, together with the poor

The farmer or live stock man in any sort of touch at all with agricultural. and market conditions doesn't have to look far for reasons why animals should be kept. In the first place the necessity for increasing our meat supply is urgent, and coupled with this is the additional fact that prospects for a continuation of high prices were never better. And we should bear in mind further that our live stock popto already far too small to insure the maintenance of soil fertility and the production of bountiful crops in the years to come. To appreclate this fully it is only necessary to consider the inunense amount of fertility which is sold with the various crops. Realization of this brings home the immense importance of feed-ing out every animal possible.

THE KIND OF POTATO FIELDS MICHIGAN WANTS THIS SEASON.

The Right Use of the Harrow, and Proper Cultivation, Will Help to Put the Field in This Condition.

An acre of oats yielding 50 bushels of grain, by way of illustration, will remove from the soil in grain alone for the damage done by it a year or approximately $1.68 pounds of nitrogen, 13.96 pounds of phosphoric acid under. The adult is a brownish beetle, and 8.96 pounds of potash. To replace this amount of plantfood by the use of commercial fertilizer would cost not less than $6.84 per acre, even at the prices prevailing three years ago.

But an acre of corn, yielding one hundred baskets, or 50 bushels of shelled corn removes still greater quantities of desirable elements from the soil. The grain alone in the corn removed from an acre of land contains 45.36 pounds of nitrogen, 19.32 pounds of phosphoric acid and 11.2 pounds of potash, having a fertilizer value of $9.69. The fertilizing ingredients in a ton of clover hay are valued at $9.36.

realize that he can hardly afford to sell all the crops he raises. Rather, he should devote only a set area to cash crops and make it a fixed policy to feed the remainder of his crops to live stock. The animal utilizes only a small part of the fertilizing ingredients in the feed, and those aren't used are returned to the farm er in the form of manure. It is safe to say that where manure is carefully handled, full 80 per cent of the fer tility value of a feed finds its way back to the soil. Figuring on this basis, an acre of oats if fed to stock on the farm, returns to the soil $5.47 worth of fertility. On the other hand if the oats are sold, $5.47 worth of fertility is removed from each acre. With corn the loss through sale would be $7.75 an acre, and in the case of a of aplaries will be privileged to order ton of clover hay the loss through sale would be $7.48 worth of fertility. Feeding these crops returns these values to the land.

For each bushel of oats fed, we ge back 11 cents worth of fertility and for each bushel of corn 151/2 worth of fertility. The advisability of raising more live stock becomes apparent, even though part of the feed must be purchased.

The protein-rich feeds, which are the ones most economical to buy, have a much greater fertility value than plained by the state inspector of the home-grown feeds. The fertilizing value of the manure obtained from every part of the hive shall be accessive. the feeding of a ton of bran is $6.84; from a ton of linseed meal $17.85, and from a ton of cottonseed meal $23.70. Both of the last named feeds can be fed in combination with home-grown feeds and a profit obtained on the live stock produced, to say nothing of the fact that the manure resultant from their feeding is practically equal in value to a ton of many brands of commercial fertilizer.

Use Up to 400 to 500 Pounds of Water for Each Pound of Dry Matter.

East Lansing, Mic .- The farmer who is looking out for No. 1 this sea-son, or in any season, for that matter, will see to it that weeds in corn and beans are killed before they get a start. Early cultivation, and continu ous practice of it throughout the growing season is the remedy, say farmcrops men of the Michigan Agricultu-

After about 35 days' growth, the roots of corn or bean plants completely interlace between the rows atta come to within about two inches of the surface. These surface roots are the chief feeding roots of the plant, and deep cultiwill cause a considerable in yield by pruning them. Level and shallow cultivation is the best, and the use of small shovels, or small cultivators equipped with blades or sweeps is advised. Deep cultivation is par-ticularly the practice of "laying by". Cultivating deeply at the last cultivation and throwing the earth from the middle of the rows should be avoided.'

WIRE WORMS ARE SOD PESTS

Precautions Must Be Taken to Pre vent Its Attacking Corn and Other Crops.

By DON B. WHELAN,

Extension Entomologist, M. A. C. Eust Lansing, Mich.—The wi vorm, as always, will bear watching his season in Michigan. Wire worms re yellowish brown larvae, possesing hard polished skins and bodies slender and cylindrical in shape, measuring from three-quarters of an inch to an inch in length. The most injurious form in Michigan prefers low, mucky, or poorly-drained soils, where it feeds upon the roots of grasses, grains and the like. years is required for this pest to reach maturity, which accounts, many times, two after grass sod has been turned which from its habit of snapping its body up in the air, is known as a "click heetle."

Susceptible crops, like potatoes, corn or root crops, should not be planted after plowing up grass sod. Prof. S. A. Forbes of Illinois, suggests that recently plowed up grass sod should be kent in clover as much as practicable for a few years, as wire worms do not thrive well in clover land. In plants infested with wire worms it badly would be well to use some commercial fertilizer. This will not kill the in-sect, but will aid the plant in overcoming its work.

It is sometimes advisable to drain When these figures are thoughtfully considered the farmer cannot help but considered the farmer cannot help but self, and this has given rise to the impression that the lime itself kills the wire worms. As a matter of fact, the action of the lime simply changes the physical character of the soil.

That's your way; you cure the effects and ignore the causes. I wonder what Tarrant's doing?" continued, looking at me uneasily. It was now fifteen minutes since he had gone. Only five remained, but I knew that Melton would not stir be-cause he had not received his money. Just as I was wondering whether I ught not to go after Tarrant the door bell rang, and a minute later he came hurrying in. His face was radi-

"May I speak to Mr. Melton privately?" he asked. "I don't want to keep anything from you, gentlemen, but this is—well, it's the limit. And you'll see whether it's going to work

We excused him willingly, and he drew Melton into a corner. I saw count out a hundred dollars and saw the quack count them again and pocket them, as before. Then Tarrant began whispering, and Melton started back and stared at him and suddenly broke into a broad grin. All the while Miss Katherine sat perfectly immobile upon the chair.

Melton came back "Well, gentlemen," he said, "what Mr. Terrant tells me puts another light on the subject altogether. If he hadn't thought of it and found out—good Lord! I'm sailing for Australia next to magnify his own importance.

There has been nothing that such men could be recommended for to date, but now that the government wants older men for the second camps it is thought here that those who have offered their services first will again come to the front.

The new order makes special provision and especial mention of those who have offered their services. Military Crisis Reported By Spanish Newspapers.

London-Rumors of a serious revoutionary movement in Spain are giv en prominence in a section of the press. There has been an almost complete absence of news from the peninsula since the new ministry was appointed.

One suggestion is that a movement WANT ARMY TO LAUNCH DRIVE to bring Spain into the war is materislizing, but the little information available is to the effect that the crisis is purely a domestic one and largely due to the demand for reforms by the rank and file of the army.

Author of PAKE and STREAM GAME FISHING

GOIN' AFTER MUSKY,

My Dear Buck:

So you're out for the big ones, the "tiger" of the waters, the great old rascal that makes 'em all sit up and doff the lid. You've bassed, trouted, and piked and panned a bit, now you feel like taking a whirl at the boss of the tribe, caused no doubt by the many tales that have been spun about this Villa of the weedbeds. No matter, old man, how harrowing the tale, the mus-kellunge is gullty of everything that has been said about him. Where to Find Him.

Bis favorite haunt is in about 5 to 15 feet of water near the weeds, water lilies or grasses that grow in the water, or alongside of subwater, or alongside merged rocks. He is a solitary fellow, don't make any friends, just lies around waiting for a piece of food to go swimming by, then he makes a lightninglike dart, snaps his powerful jaws shut on his victim and swims back to his station and gorges the eats, ready in a minute to take an-other foray. He always strikes a fish or lure sideways, and there is no special time when he is feeding, fact is ne seems to be hungry all the time, but he is more active from eight to eleven in the morning and from four until dark. When the water is slightly roughened by the wind and breaking in small waves or an overcast day, is good musky weather, but he may surprise you and strike your lure while you are trolling into shore to make landing for the noonday lunch.

Musky fishing is very good in June, unless the season is extremely cold and backward, towards the tail end of July it slows up considerably, while August is the poorest month for the big chief. During "dog days" his teeth are in poor shape and you can hardly coax a strike out of him unless he feels so down in the mouth and mean that he strikes from pure cuss-edness. Like a snake shedding its skin and the deer its horns, the musky loses its teeth in August, but nature packs in a new set by the first of September and the old boy is in a fine fighting humor for that month. By far the best musky fishing is to be had in September and October, when the chill night air seems to fill them with an extra supply of pep for the food hunt the next day. Even up into November is not too late for the big ones, but for downright good musky fishing it is hard to beat September and October. Troll and Cast.
In the past most of the boys have

The Best Time.

In trolling for musky a silk braided line of 20 to 30 pounds test is about right, while a six-thread Cuttyhunk linen line is preferred by some. For a trolling lure the spoon hoo holds first place and is no doubt the best little all-round bait. Use a chub, shiner, black sucker or pork rind with if this don't seem to make 'em curious, put a strip of red flannel about six inches long on the hooks and let that wiggle through the water a bit as an enticer. Some mighty fine ones ave been caught with this rig. Most ginners load the line with ping big spoon, even up to No. 12 size. Keep her down, old man, to a No. 4 or No. 6 for the single spoon, and No. 3 or No. 4 for the tanden style. For a good stiff rod for the beginner make it a steel one, and the five footer will fill the bill for either casting or trolling for the musky. Of course if you are a doubledyed expert you can use your lighter rod and tackle, but unless one is an expert at handling the lighter tackle he had better stick to the slightly heavier stuff and feel more sure of the A musky can sure make a fine outfit look like a junk shop if it's handled by an inexperienced Troll in water about 8 to 12 feet deep, off the edges of the weedbeds and over the underwater weeds; also off the rock beds and points of land as well as quiet coves and bays. In casting for the musky keep the boat about 50 feet off the casting waters, moving the boat as noiselessly as possible and casting in towards the shore or feeding grounds. white or white and red head artificial minnow, or spoon and pork rind, frog or minnow makes a good casting lure. From the strike the fight is fast and gamy and you sure must keep the slack out of the line or he'll do a flop out of the water and corkscrew back on your line, which means farewell to the musky,
